

Hong Kong and The Greater Bay Area

Sunday, October 20 at 5:00 PM HKT - Tuesday, October 22 at 8:30 PM HKT

Kowloon, Hong Kong & Shenzhen, Guangdong

Hong Kong is pivotal in the Greater Bay Area (GBA) initiative, functioning as a key financial center and contributing its well-established legal and financial infrastructure to foster economic integration. As a gateway for multinational corporations, Hong Kong's strategic location, commitment to the rule of law, and efficient financial services enhance its value proposition. As a bridge between mainland China and the global economy, Hong Kong is crucial in facilitating cross-border trade and investment. The Hong Kong Stock Exchange's status as Asia's premier public listing destination is underpinned by the city's attractiveness to global companies. Additionally, Hong Kong is emerging as a significant financial hub for financing China's and Asia's energy transition and climate technology investments, aligning with global sustainability goals. However, in light of geopolitical frictions between China and the U.S.-led Western world, can Hong Kong continue to thrive on its traditional advantages? Will it gradually lose its identity and significance as it integrates with the GBA? What is unique about Hong Kong that other Asian financial centers may find challenging to compete with or emulate?
